BOLDplanning has helped develop more than 10,000 public and private sector preparedness plans.

Emergency Preparedness Plans for Schools

Schools are typically warm, wonderful places, filled with laughter, relationships and exploration. However, despite the positive impact these institutions have on young lives, schools today also face unprecedented man-made and natural threats. Circumstances that were once unthinkable are now realities. School administrators have a responsibility to prepare for a wide variety of events that pose a danger to students and faculty, or disrupt normal operations.

The process of developing, maintaining and testing comprehensive preparedness plans is often difficult and time consuming. However, with BOLDplanning's world-class online school software, expert consulting and superior training, preparedness planning for schools is faster, easier and more effective.

World-class Online Platform Designed Specifically for K-12 Schools

BOLDplanning's leading edge, cloud-based software is designed to help schools of all types and sizes create practical and compliant plans.

As an online solution designed specifically for K-12 schools, every plan is accessible from virtually anywhere at any time. Plus, the platform is easy to use, yet flexible enough to meet your school's unique operational needs.

Expert School Consulting

The BOLDplanning consulting approach is built around industry-adopted best practices. We monitor all guidance and references from FFIEC, FDIC, DRII, and DHS/FEMA to ensure everything you do is compliant with applicable regulatory requirements and industry guidance. Our experts will also take the time to understand the specific requirements of your particular state.

Our experienced consultants are skilled facilitators and communicators. These facilitation skills, coupled with the proven BOLDplanning methodology, generate greater participation and interaction across the organization, campus or entire school district.

Superior Training & Exercising

Training and exercising are essential to maintaining preparedness. BOLDplanning training and exercise packages range from minimal workshops to complete project management for multi-year projects. The company's training approach conforms to all DHS/FEMA guidance for training, including the Homeland Security Exercise and Evaluation Program (HSEEP)—a proven framework for exercise design, conduct, evaluation and improvement.

Whether a small private school or a large school district, you can trust BOLDplanning to help make your educational institution ready for specific critical events while creating an overall culture of preparedness.
